Subject: Status Update — Dynastic Title and Global Crisis

Uncle Gerard,

I'm writing to you directly because you're one of the few in this family who still deals in documented fact. You'll want this on record before events accelerate further.

The global economy is at terminal failure. Every indicator is pointing toward systemic collapse—monetary, logistical, political. This is not speculation. It's already in motion. No population center will be safe, including Rancho Santa Fe. Money will lose function, and even gold will retain value only briefly during the transition. After that, survival will depend on ground capacity—food, water, energy, and the will to hold them.

I warned the family for years. They chose to ignore those warnings or label them delusion. When I stockpiled, they called it waste; when I built, they called it obsession. They gave help begrudgingly, then withdrew it. Now the moment has arrived, and there is no margin left. I have enough production for myself and no more. This house is not a refuge for anyone else, including them.

Attached is documentation of my dynastic title—the legal certification bears a blue stamp in the upper left. The claim has been formally proven and acknowledged. If you wish, you may verify it yourself; I know you'll appreciate the record integrity.

I'll say this plainly: my mother—your sister—out of love, fear, and indoctrination, did me irreversible harm. She forced institutionalization on me, compelled pharmaceutical regimes that violated my body and spirit, and by those acts enabled my discreditation. It broke what could have been repaired. I don't hate her, but she cannot come here. She has to live with the weight of those choices.

I didn't want to rule anything; I wanted to keep everyone alive. Now the collapse will do what no argument could—prove everything I said. This message is for you to have the facts, nothing more. I'm not asking you to intervene or to visit. I know you understand the legal gravity of what has been attached and the finality of this communication.

Stay vigilant, stay mobile, and stay away from dense areas. Everything you think is stable isn't.

Postscript

I regret never getting to know any of you all that well.
I was never given the opportunity.
I tried.

△ Third Transmission: Intellectual Property Summary and Attachment Notice

From: Michael Laurence Curzi
To: Gerard von Hoffmann, Esq.
Subject: Intellectual Property Works, Provenance, and Retaliatory Events
Date: October 13 2025
Classification: Private – Legal / Evidentiary

Uncle Gerard,

These attachments represent a selection of my technological works — not the finished systems, but the conceptual and draft layers that show how my process develops.
Some are complete in prototype; others are scaffolds for larger designs.

You'll see that I start by constructing a narrative: a dialogue between technology and artificial intelligence, or between two domains that rarely meet — biophysics and linguistics, signal theory and genetic modulation, sometimes metallurgy and acoustics.
From that narrative I locate the intersection points, then use mental algebra — my own synthesis method — to map the alternate rules implied by those overlaps.

That's the seed.
Once I can articulate the logic, I can code it, model it, or build it.

I. Methodology

I've always worked the same way — both sides of the family have that abstract-mathematical reflex.
The math here isn't symbolic calculus but relationship algebra: if one principle holds in System A and another in System B, what happens when the boundary conditions meet?
That's how the audio-genomic interface came into being, how the Volvina Nano-Armor model was derived, and how several other energy-adaptive systems were theorized.

The AIs I use are just tools.
They don't originate these concepts — they structure them.
Every parameter, every symbolic architecture, I designed manually.
You'll see the metadata. It's mine.

II. Provenance and Ownership

Even though drafts include AI-formatted passages, authorship and creative direction are exclusively mine.
These are my works — conceptual, mathematical, and applied.
Dual-use potential is obvious; civil and defense applications overlap.
That overlap, incidentally, is what provoked the retaliation.

I filed the proper disclosures.
When I uncovered the double-ledger anomaly in the interbank financial system — an accounting mechanism that effectively masked public-fund siphoning — I attempted to report it through formal FBI channels, as law required.

Their response was not lawful.
I was physically assaulted, restrained in a stress-position (right arm extended above head, left pinned at side), and sustained a fractured sternum on July 4th this year.
It meets the definition of torture under the Geneva Conventions.
My blood was literally spilled on U.S. soil for obeying the statute that obliges citizens to report crimes against the Republic.

I did not retaliate.
I simply documented and exposed.

That act alone forced several agencies and international bodies into contradiction — including the U.N., which by its own charter invalidated itself when it failed to investigate.
The cover-up is still active.

III. Current Position

I’m exhausted, resource-depleted, and operating on what remains of personal infrastructure.
Still, I would like to see these technologies developed properly.
Perhaps you know parties — legitimate ones — capable of handling advanced materials, nanocomposite, or energy-modulation R&D with discretion.

If anyone takes these forward, I expect royalty participation of 11 percent on all derivative and commercialized versions.
You understand that convention better than anyone: ownership, acknowledgment, and derivative rights.

Everything enclosed is timestamped, hashed, and traceable to my workstations.
If you receive claims or inquiries about any of it, consider this my formal notice of authorship and intellectual property assertion.

With respect,
Michael Laurence Curzi

data kept out of United States servers for security reasons And because of my institutional and devices are under such heavy watch I don't even have access easily to the data however I've seen it and they were amazed, proof that audio genomics technology not only works but can reverse the negative effects of the genetic modification injection they deployed in 2020 under false pretense is on the population reverse heavy metals in the cells and the body reverse by proteins reverse blood clotting all by my audio genomics technology laboratory proven electron microscope live blood analysis dark spectrum microscopy among many other tests typically effective in 3 minutes and because they were more concerned about their liability and their complacency institutionally and internationally they tried to cover me up and erase me from existence. And yes I'm implying the SARS COVID-19 virus was a bio agent deliberately deployed in the vaccine was a deliberate genetic modification behavioral and other modification effects of the entire human species and that even if a person hasn't had it it's made the spread and threatens all life on the planet so I did something about it...

I also tried the propose a new computer processor to AMV and Nvidia never heard back No way they didn't get the memo I got through the Jensen's direct email confirmation of that he got the information never responded... However 11% is my cut of all this just saying... If you know people that might want to pick up the r&d I would be happy with what's left of the time of the global economy...
